

Don't Miss These 5 Cool Exhibits During Art Basel Miami From December 3-6

NOVEMBER 25, 2015

Each year, Art Basel in Miami attracts some of the top artists in the world to its beachside city. Taking place from December 3-6 this year, the event will feature 267 leading galleries from across the globe that will showcase modern and contemporary art from both renowned and emerging artists. Over 70,000 visitors make their way to the Miami Beach Convention Center for daily talks, films, live performances, shows, tours and plenty of exciting after parties.

Art Basel also features 20 satellite fairs such as NADA Art Fair, Context, Pulse and new this year, X Contemporary, Art on Paper and Satellite. If you're headed to Miami for the affair, here are five suggested exhibits to see:

Located in the Survey section of the fair, the Garth Greenan Gallery will showcase five canvases from the mid-1960s by Pop artist Rosalyn Drexler. Drexler's paintings are made by enlarging images from films, TV, newspapers and magazines and painting over them with acrylics. She is known for creating pieces that were more dreamlike and darker than her male counterparts.
